

Dropping off and/or picking up a container at RST North?

From 21 October 2019, road hauliers and barge operators must submit their pre-notifications via Portbase!

In order to serve you even better in the future, Rotterdam Short Sea Terminals North is implementing a new Terminal Operating System. Are you a transporter who needs to drop off and/or pick up a container at RST North? If so, pre-notify your visit and the container via Portbase! This will apply to all visits effective from 08:00 on 21 October 2019.

How it works

You can use the service Hinterland Container Notification Road (web and API interface), Road Planning (EDI) and Barge Planning (from autumn 2019 Hinterland Container Notification Barge) to submit pre-notifications via Portbase. Once you have submitted a pre-notification, you will automatically receive status information on your visit and container. This allows you to optimally plan each visit and shorten your overall processing time on the terminal.

Pre-notify your Customs documents via Portbase as well

Are you a transporter and are you also responsible for submitting proper Customs documents to RST North? From 21 October 2019, you will always do so via Portbase, using the services Notification Import Documentation and Notification Export Documentation.

Pre-notification of containers will become available at RST South in the course of 2020.
